Acknowledgement

First of all I would like to extend my sincere gratitude to my supervising guide and Head of the Department of Applied Economics, Prof (Dr.) P. Arunachalam, for his inspiring guidance, valuable support and intellectual insight. He has supported me throughout my study with great patience, valuable advice and friendly help, which helped me to shape my thinking, and encouraged me to push the boundaries of my own abilities.

I express my hearty and sincere thanks to Prof (Dr.) M. Meerabai, member of my doctoral committee, for her continuous support and encouragement at all stages of the study.

I am full of appreciation for Prof (Dr.) D Rajasenan, for his valuable advice and remarks regarding the topic, objectives and methodology, which helped me to shape this thesis. I also express my sincere thanks to Prof (Dr.) S Harikumar, who was the Head of the Department when I had registered for Ph.D for the kind help and support extended to me from the beginning of the study itself. I express my sincere thanks to Dr. PK Manoj for his valuable advice and constant encouragement.

The support given to me by the members of the office staff of the Department of Applied Economics has been extremely helpful throughout the course of this thesis. I extend my hearty thanks to all the members of the office staff for their kind help and co-operation. I extend my gratitude to the officials of the academic and examination section of CUSAT, for the timely information and help given to me during the course of the research work.
I place on record with gratitude, the invariable assistance given to me by the Librarian and staff members of the Department of Applied Economics, School of Management Studies, and University Central Library for all the library facilities offered to me.

When I reflect on my research, I am greatly obliged to my former colleague Dr. A Abdul Salim, Reader in Economics, University of Kerala, who actually inculcated the research attitude in me. With all prayers, I extend my sincere and hearty gratitude to him.

I have been motivated to pursue research in the area of trade by Dr. Prabir De of the Research and Information System for Developing Countries (RIS), New Delhi. I extend my gratitude to him.

Without data the study wouldn’t have been possible. I am greatly indebted to many people for their kind help in giving me valuable data and data source. I would have failed to do one important analysis without the support of Dr. Arlene Anriano (UN Comtrade Statistics Division) for giving me the data source of UN Comtrade Statistics. His support and encouragement helped me much in doing the work. I extend my sincere gratitude to him.

I express my hearty thanks to the Chairman and Secretary of Spices Board, Kochi for their invaluable help and co-operation. I also wish to express my sincere gratitude to Sri Jose kutty KA former Library and Information Officer, Sri. Roy Joseph, former Assistant Director Statistics, Dr. Senthilkumar, Library and Information Officer and Dr. Jaganthan K, Assistant Director Statistics of Spices Board, Kochi who had provided me vital information and data for the successful completion of the study.

The whole hearted timely and invaluable help and co-operation given to me by the Library and Information Officer Dr. Sushama Devi and other library staff of the Indian Institute of Spices Research (IISR), Calicut was very helpful to me. I extend sincere thanks to them.

For the analysis of data, I am greatly indebted to many people. I have learned many tools which can be used for the analysis of data related to performance studies, from my beloved friend and former colleague Dr.KP Prabheesh, Assistant Professor, IIT Hyderabad. I extend my sincere and hearty thanks to him and his family for their kind help and support.

I also extend my sincere gratitude to Dr.TV Francy, Principal Maharajas College Ernakulam, Dr.Z A Ashraf, Head of the Department of Statistics, Government Arts College Calicut, Prof.KT Thomachan St.Joseph’s College Devagiri, Calicut and D Shyjan, Assistant Professor, University of Calicut, for helping and giving me valuable information regarding the data analysis.

I am appreciative of Prof (Dr.) Harilal of Centre for Development Studies Thiruvananthapuram, for his valuable suggestions and support given to me in the area of research.

I am thankful to the Officials of Spices Board Kochi, Indian Institute of Spices Research (IISR) Calicut, Centre for Development Studies Thiruvananthapuram, University of Calicut, Jamia Millia Islamia New Delhi, Research and Information System for Developing Countries (RIS), New Delhi, Indian Institute of Technology (IIT) Hyderabad for the co-operation extended to me during the collection of data and literature.

The support and help rendered to me by friend and colleague Dr. C Krishnan was inspiring and fruitful throughout my study. I extend my sincere thanks to him for his valuable help.
I am particularly grateful to my former Head of the Department Prof. KD Joseph and other Colleagues in the Department of Economics, other departments and office staff of my college, who supported and helped me in completing the study and whose names are not mentioned here. I thank all of them very sincerely.

I am very thankful to my fellow research scholars in the department, especially Prof V Abdul Naser and Prof. Jestin Joseph, for their support and help.

I also express my sincere gratitude to Dr. MV Suma, Head of the Department of English, Government College Kodanchery for going through the manuscript and for her valuable suggestions.

I can’t express my gratitude to my father, mother and brothers in words; their unconditional love, support and prayer has been my strength for this work.

My wife and sons have borne the full brunt of my studentship. Their support and sacrifice strengthened me during the process of completing the thesis, particularly during the last two years, when I spent more time with computers and data, than with them.

Special thanks to Bina DTP, Chenakkal, University of Calicut for the neat and speedy DTP service.

Above all, I praise the Almighty God who showered his blessings on me so that I could complete this humble work, and for bestowing upon me the courage to face the complexities of life and mould this thesis successfully.
