I am filled with deep sense of gratitude to Dr. G. Herbert, Reader, Department of Philosophy, S.V. University College, Tirupati, who has given guidance in preparing this thesis, but for whose masterly guidance this thesis would not have been in this shape.

I am thankful to Prof. K. R. Jayalu, Foster College, U.J.A., for going through the chapter entitled as 'Concept of Change in Shankara' and a few of them in other chapters. He has given me advice and helped in revising the thesis. Short time discussion with Prof. K. Chandra, on 'creativity', an aspect of change helped me to deal several questions on the problem of change.

I am thankful to Prof. Kittu, Dr. K. Sri Swathi Chennakesavan, Prof. Kiran and Head of the Department of Philosophy, S.V. University College, Tirupati, for her help in providing me with all the facilities and encouragement to proceed with the work.

I am very much indebted to Dr. G. Ramiah for his valuable help and encouragement in revising this thesis. And my thanks to all those who helped me in the correction of the manuscript and made necessary corrections in the linear aspect of this thesis. I am gratefully indebted to all of them.
