ACKNOWLEDGMENTS

This thesis reflects the combined labor of a number of people. It was through their advice, encouragement, and dedication that this thesis was possible. I take this opportunity to express my sense of gratitude to Dr. Rajendrasinh Jadeja, Principal of the H M Patel Institute of English, who took me under his able guidance and tutelage. He guided me with patience, diligence, and care. Without his support and guidance this thesis would not have been possible. Even though he was thousands of miles away, he guided me in every phase of the process of writing. He was also graceful to accommodate his schedule to advise me while I was visiting India. I am equally thankful to Prof. D S Mishra, Head, P G Department of English and Prof. J K Dave, Head, P G Department of Education, Sardar Patel University for their help and guidance in my work.

I am also grateful to Dr. May Nelson Paulissen who was there for me upon the sad and lamentable demise of her daughter who was her pride and joy. She gave her valuable time and advice even when she was grieving over her daughter's death. She advised over and beyond the call of her duty and responsibility. My thesis bears the imprint of the professors' advice, but for any omissions and errors I take full responsibility.

I am grateful to the principal of Benjamin Cardozo High School, Mr. Arnold Goldstein, for his support. Mr. Mel Farberman, Assistant Principal of English at Benjamin Cardozo High School, for his guidance and accommodating the schedule for the experiment into the calendar for the term. I also appreciate the help of Mrs. Thea Callender, an English teacher at Benjamin Cardozo High School, in testing her E5B students for pretest and posttest.

I am also indebted to Alexander Rakovsky for his technical assistance with computer glitches during the initial stages of my thesis writing. He was always available to help me with computer literacy even at odd hours. I am grateful to Mr Ong, Xuong, a colleague of mine during the subsequent stages of my thesis. I am indebted to him for help with statistical graphs and figures. I owe it to Miss. Pooja Srinivas for the technical assistance during the final draft of the thesis. I am grateful to her for the tireless efforts and endless hours she spent so that the final product is attractive even though it follows the conventions of a thesis manual.

I am thankful to Dr. Dilawarsinh Jadeja for sowing the seeds and showing confidence in my abilities to take up this difficult project of working on my Ph. D. I am grateful to my sister Dr. Rohini V. Divecha for helping me out with the arduous process of admission to the Sardar Patel University. Without inspiration and moral support of my brother Dr. Naishadh V. Desai, I would not have given a second thought to the idea of working toward a degree. He was instrumental in my enthusiasm to undertake this project. He helped through the process of statistical analysis.
of the data. He helped me not only during his vacation time, but also during the busiest time of the year which is income tax time in the USA. I am thankful to my immediate family—my husband Kanu, my son Neel, and my daughter Neepa and my daughter-in-law Meera— for cooperating during the most stressful times in my life. The prayers and blessings of my mother-in-law, Mrs. Bhanumati gave me spiritual guidance when I was discouraged. Finally, my most sincere thanks go to my late father Vimochanrao and mother Satyabala who educated me to believe that it is the true education and knowledge that set you free from the shackles of ignorance and prejudice.
