ACKNOWLEDGEMENTS

On completion of my doctoral research work, I would like to express my deepest gratitude and appreciation to the people who contributed in varied ways and without whom this research would not have been possible.

First and foremost, I would like to express my sincere and eternal gratitude to my guide Dr. J. S. Bidlan, Professor and Chairperson, Department of Psychology, for helping me accomplish this dream through his caring gestures, patience and constant moral support. I am extremely thankful and indebted to him for sharing expertise, excellent guidance, and sincere and valuable suggestions, and encouragement extended to me. It was under his tutelage that I developed a focus and direction, and was encouraged to complete my research work with enthusiasm.

I owe a special debt of gratitude to my esteemed advisor Dr. C. R. Darolia, Professor and University Proctor, Department of Psychology, for his unconditional support in difficult times of research. His immense knowledge, tremendous energy, unceasing encouragement, insightful comments, and motivating attitude converted this tough journey into a successful experience. Words are futile to express my indebtedness towards him. My heartfelt thanks to you Sir, I could not have imagined having a better expert guidance and supervision for my doctoral research.

I cannot miss to express my fond gratitude to Dr. (Mrs.) Shashi Darolia for my interaction with her, and appreciate the support extended through her caring gestures, warm welcome, and words of encouragement. I am indebted to Dr. Samir Parikh, Director, Department of Mental Health and Behavioral Sciences, Fortis Healthcare, for being considerate about my research work and boosting my spirits in tough times. I would like to express my deepest appreciation for his indispensible advices, information and support. I recollect with thanks Ms. Kamna chhibber, Clinical Psychologist and Head-Psychological Services, Fortis Healthcare for the help rendered during the initial stage of research, especially for the stimulating discussions regarding the topic of research.

My thanks are due to all the Faculty members of Department of Psychology, Kurukshetra University for their direct and indirect help. A special thanks to all the Doctors, Nursing Staff, and other Support Staff of the private hospitals of New Delhi, NCR from where the sample of the research was drawn, for their assistance and generous support. I would also like to thank my friends, for their help and care, and for being a strong support system. A special thanks to Vatsla Mohan, for all the fun we have had in the last four years. She is a wonderful, helping, and generous friend, and I admire her ability to smile despite the situation.

The research work would not have completed without the unparalleled affection, unending patience, silent sacrifices, and tremendous support of my family, especially my respected parents Shri Sarwan Kumar Sihag and Smt. Santosh Sihag. I am grateful to my spouse Vikas Ahlawat, my brother Arun Sihag, my loving sisters Anita and Alka, and my sister-in-law Suman for rendering all the possible support in different ways and for helping me sail through the toughest times of my research coupled with family commitments. I heartily express my thankfulness to my nephew Heymann for spending quality time with my daughter as an adorable big brother, while I was busy with my research work.

My deepest and affectionate gratitude is due to my loving daughter, Rajnandini Ahlawat for being the driving force that kept me going. Her innocent smiles, warm hugs, and contagious laughter have been my biggest stress busters. I love her with all my heart and soul, and feel guilty of having deprived her of my love, attention, and care due to my visits to Kurukshetra University. I dedicate my achievement to her for being my world to me.
I would be failing my duties if I do not express my fond gratitude to my heavenly father-in-law, Late Shri Attar Singh Ahlawat for his unparalleled affection and tremendous encouragement. His gentle care, moral support and resolute confidence in me kept me focused on my aim even after his untimely and sad demise.

Last, but not the least, I am grateful to the Almighty God, for being favorable to me at all the stages of my research work and for giving me unending patience to handle research coupled with family related commitments.

(Anupama Sihag)