Table of Contents

Abstract ................................................................................................................. i
Acknowledgements ................................................................................................ ii
Table of Contents ................................................................................................... v
Index of Figures ..................................................................................................... ix
Index of Tables ...................................................................................................... x

Chapter 1. Introduction .......................................................................................... 1

Chapter 2. Review of Literature ........................................................................... 3
  2.1. Subordinate-Superior Communication ......................................................... 3
    2.1.1. Subordinate-Superior Communication: Trait Characteristics .............. 3
    2.1.2. Subordinate-Superior Communication: State Characteristics .......... 4
  2.2. Willingness to Communicate (WTC): Construct and Measurement .......... 4
  2.3. Antecedents of WTC .................................................................................... 6
    2.3.1. Communication Apprehension ............................................................... 6
    2.3.2. Communication Competence ............................................................... 8
  2.4. WTC: Trait and State Characteristics ......................................................... 8
  2.5. Trait-State Relationship: Interactionist Perspective .................................... 9
  2.6. WTC in Organizational Context ................................................................ 10
  2.7. Importance of WTC in Organizational Context ......................................... 11
  2.8. WTC in the Indian Environment: Cultural Perspectives ........................... 11
  2.9. Organizational Variables: Effect on Stress ............................................... 12
  2.10. A Person-Environment Fit Approach to Stress ........................................ 13

Chapter 3. Research Questions and Study Design ................................................ 15
  3.1. Research Gap ............................................................................................... 15
  3.2. Research Questions ..................................................................................... 15
  3.3. Study Design ............................................................................................... 16
    3.3.1. Target Population .................................................................................. 16
    3.3.2. Phases of Study .................................................................................... 16

Chapter 4. Phase I: Semi-Structured Interviews with Target Population ................. 18
  4.1. The Importance of Superior ....................................................................... 19
  4.2. Importance of Subordinate-Superior Communication ............................... 20
  4.3. Willingness to Communicate: Trait and State ........................................... 22
    4.3.1. Willingness to Communicate: The Trait Factor .................................. 22
    4.3.2. Willingness to Communicate: The State Factor .................................. 23
    4.3.3. WTC-State: Importance and Effects .................................................... 25
      4.3.3.1. Importance of High WTC ............................................................... 25
      4.3.3.2. Effect of Low WTC .................................................................... 26
      4.3.3.3. The Nature of Low WTC ............................................................. 28
      4.3.3.4. Judicious Mix of High and Low WTC ........................................ 28
4.4. Beyond WTC ____________________________ 29
4.4.1. Communication Skills __________________ 29
4.4.2. Interpersonal Skills and Writing Skills _______ 31
4.4.3. Other Skills ____________________________ 31
4.5. On the Role of Organizational Variables _______ 33
4.5.1. Fair Treatment from the Superior ___________ 33
4.5.2. Better Relationship with the Superior _________ 34
4.5.3. A Powerful, Worthy, and non-bullying Superior _______ 35
4.5.4. Politically Charged Atmosphere _____________ 37
4.5.5. Supportive and Open Climate ______________ 38
4.6. Other Variables: Caste and Social Background _______ 40
4.7. On Stress: Causes and Effects _______________ 41
4.8. Stress: Felt at Psychological and Physiological level _______ 42
4.9. Outcome of the Interview Process ______________ 43
Chapter 5. Phase II: Argumentation: Generation of Hypotheses _______ 44
5.1. Nature of Upward Communication: In-role and Extra-role _______ 44
5.1.1. Employee Voice: A Person Situation Interaction Approach _______ 46
5.1.2. In-role and Extra-role Communication Behavior: A Revisit _______ 46
5.2. Trait-State WTC Relationship: The Moderating Variables _______ 47
5.2.1. Perceived Organizational Justice _______________ 48
5.2.2. Leader Member Exchange ________________ 51
5.2.3. Perceived Supervisory Power _______________ 54
5.2.4. Perceived Organizational Politics ____________ 57
5.2.5. Communication Climate _________________ 62
5.3. Summing Up: Moderating Organizational Variables _______ 65
5.4. Person-Environment Fit and Employee Stress _______ 65
5.5. Hypothetical Models _________________ 67
Chapter 6. Phase III: Instruments Selection, Development, and Validation _______ 70
6.1. Measuring Trait-Like WTC ________________ 70
6.1.1. Validation of WTC-Trait Scale ____________ 71
6.2. Measuring State-Like Extra-Role WTC ___________ 72
6.3. Measuring State-Like In-Role WTC _______ 72
6.3.1. Development of WTC-State In-Role Scale _______ 73
6.3.2. WTC-State Scale: Interview Excerpts ___________ 74
6.3.2.1. The Nature of Subordinate-Superior Communication _______ 74
6.3.2.2. Getting News and Communicating its Importance _______ 75
6.3.2.3. Pressing Hard for Your News Story _______ 75
6.3.2.4. Public Speaking: A Peripheral Task _______ 76
6.4. Measuring Moderating Variables _______ 76
6.4.1. Perceived Organizational Justice ___________ 77
6.4.2. Leader-Member Exchange ___________ 77
6.4.3. Perceived Supervisory Power ___________ 79
6.4.4. Perceived Organizational Politics 79
6.4.5. Perceived Politicking Skills 80
6.4.6. Communication Climate 80
6.5. Measuring Psychological Stress (Job Induced Tension) 81
6.6. Measuring Physiological Stress (Blood Pressure and Pulse Rate) 82
6.7. Control Variables 82
6.7.1. Age and Gender 82
6.7.2. Vertical 83
6.7.3. Unit Strength Local and Unit Strength Total 84
6.7.4. Total Experience and Current Experience 84
6.7.5. Educational Background 85
6.7.6. Room Temperature, Body Temperature, and Time 85
6.7.7. Medication Status and Machine Number 86
Chapter 7. Phase IV: Questionnaire Translation and Pilot Testing 87
7.1. Stage 1: Translation 88
7.2. Stage 2: Review 88
7.3. Stage 3: Adjudication 89
7.4. Stage 4: Pretest 89
7.5. Stage 5: Documentation 90
Chapter 8. Phase V: Data Collection from Target Population 91
8.1. Sample Size 92
8.2. Data Filtration 92
8.3. Internal Reliability and Dimensionality of Psychological Instruments 92
8.4. Reliability of Clinical Instruments 95
8.5. Descriptive Statistics and Pearson Correlation Coefficients 97
Chapter 9. Results and Discussion 99
9.1.1. Results (Trait-like and State-like WTC Linkage) 100
9.1.2. Discussion: (Trait-like and State-like WTC Linkage) 102
9.2.1. Results (Moderation Effect of Organizational Variables) 105
9.2.2. Discussion (Moderation Effect of Organizational Variables) 138
9.2.2.1. Perceived Interactional Justice 138
9.2.2.2. Leader Member Exchange 139
9.2.2.3. Perceived Supervisory Power 139
9.2.2.4. Perceived Organizational Politics 143
9.2.2.5. Communication Climate 144
9.3. Part C (Answering Research Question 3): Examining P-E Fit 145
9.3.1. Results (P-E Fit and Psychological Stress) 147
9.3.2. Results (P-E Fit and Physiological Stress) 151
9.3.3. Discussion (P-E Fit and Psychological Stress) 159
9.3.3.1. P-E Fit and Psychological Stress: In-role 159