ACKNOWLEDGEMENT

With high esteems and profound regards, I offer my sincere gratitude and indebtedness to my revered Guide Dr. Manmohan Kumar, Professor, Department of History, M.D. University, Rohtak, for enabling me to attain another milestone in my academic journey. His inspiring and helpful disposition for students has always inspired me to work relentlessly and complete this piece of work. His painstaking efforts in guiding, suggesting, designing, advising and improving the study throughout the entire span of investigation and inexhaustible encouragement for research work has enabled me to complete this work satisfactorily. But for his guidance and kind help, I would not have been able to realize this goal successfully.

I also express my deep sense of obligation and reverence to my parents, my elder brothers and ‘bhabhies’ for their constant encouragement, blessings and moral support that helped me to tide over occasional moments of distress. My special thanks to my Kākā (father), Sh. Hardwari Ram, the pillar of my life, who always supports and encourages me. It was my father’s dream that I should become the highest educated first person of our village. I am very happy for fulfilling his dream by submitting this thesis for the award of doctorate degree.

I also place on record my sincere thanks to Prof. Amar Singh, HOD, Deptt. of History, Maharashi Dayanand University, Rohtak, who inspired me to join the Institute of Archaeology, where I learnt the basics of archaeology and also for promoting me from time to time to work in the field of archaeology. I would also like to thank the other teachers and non teaching staff of the department for their constructive support.
