First of all, I would like to offer my heartfelt salutations at the lotus of the GOD - The Almighty, who bestowed me physical and mental strength, the courage and determination to complete the virtually difficult job.

It is a grateful privilege for me to have worked under the guidance of respect worthy Supervisor, Prof. Abha Chauhan, Head of the Department of Sociology. I find mere words inadequate to express my debtness to her and therefore, take this opportunity of thanking my revered guide for permitting me to carry out work under her supervision. It gives me a great pleasure to put on record my deepest gratitude for her constant direction, affectionate guidance, sage advice, and generous help. Her persistent encouragement in all the odd times was a source of inspiration to me during this work, without which this study would not have taken the shape in its present form.

I would fail in my duty if I don't extend my panegyric word of appreciation to the entire teaching faculty of the Sociology Department, Dr. Vishwa Raksha, Dr. Suresh Babu, Dr. Ashish Saxena, Dr. Hema Gandotra, Dr. Sapna Sangra, Ms. Shveta Sharma and Mr. Naresh for their valuable guidance.

I feel unable to adequately express my deep sense of gratitude and indebtedness to Dr. Manju Jamwal and Dr. Seema Nargotra, faculty of Department of Law for giving constructive suggestions and help. The Library staff of this Department also deserves my thanks for their cooperative and friendly dealings.

I express my special thanks to Librarian, Ms. Mitu and library attendant Mr. Vineet for their whole-hearted co-operation.

It is a matter of great pleasure to offer my sincere thanks to all the non-teaching staff members of the Department of Sociology for their support during this work.

The constant blessings of my grandmother Smt. Kamla Devi as well as grandfather-in-law Sh. Manohar Lal and grandmother-in-law Smt. Chand Rani facilitated me to finish my work smoothly.

I have no words to express my innate but heartfelt gratitude to my parents Sh. N. K. Abrol and Smt. Sunita as well as to my mother-in-law, Smt. Seema whose all-time affection, patience, support and inexhaustible perseverance have been the source of constant inspiration and encouragement to me during the research period.
I am at a loss of words in expressing thanks to my brother, Samarth and sister-in-law, Pallavi as well as to my brother-in-law, Dweep and sister-in-law Divya, for standing by me through all the odds arising during the course of this stupendous job.

I want to thank all the respondents for their invaluable support and help in the completion of this work.

My sincere thanks are also due to all other persons whose names could not be mentioned here who have helped me directly or indirectly in the completion of this work.

The material for the present enquiry derived from the text books for which I have been responsible and information have been garnered far and wide. I have quoted inadvertently from other research studies which despite every care may have occurred from multiplicity of sources. I trust the authors concerned will accept of my apologies and thanks.

The usual caveat applies; all residual errors that remained are of course mine.
