ACKNOWLEDGEMENTS

“When a man says yes, his chi (personal God) says yes also”

Here, I want to express my heartfelt thanks to those who have helped in all the ways, whether working with me and giving their precious time or supporting emotionally. Their contribution is much more than words can convey.

The completion of this work would have been impossible without the erudite guidance of my supervisors. I, therefore, express my sincere most gratitude and profound regards to my supervisors, Prof. V.K Mahajan, Department of Evening Studies, Panjab University, Chandigarh and Dr. Suman Makkar, Associate Professor, Panjab University, Chandigarh for their scrupulous guidance, valuable suggestions, their critical judgements, uncompromising attitude and continuous encouragement. Their words of encouragement have kept me going all through with confidence. Both my guides were never hesitant in allowing me to explore or to reach any possible means to make this scattered work of mine a thesis. Undoubtedly, it is indeed difficult to express in words the efforts they put in enriching this work.

I owe my sincere thanks to Prof. Gurmail Singh, Chairman, Department of Economics, Panjab University, Chandigarh who has given valuable suggestions from time-to-time. I simply wish to state that my mind bends in his respect and heart is overwhelmed by having professor like him.

I would acknowledge the assistance of Prof. S.L Kansra (Retd.), Department of Economics, Panjab University, Chandigarh for his valuable inputs in the initial stage of the study. I wish to express my regards to Dr. Nitin Arora, Assistant Professor, Panjab University, Chandigarh. His guidance was indeed helpful in completion of this work. I have been fortunate to have the productive discussions with the research scholars-cum-friends and the emotional support extended by my friend Aanchal, which helped me in one way or the other.

I would like to take the opportunity to appreciate the cooperative and accommodating attitude of the administrative staff of Department of Economics, Panjab University, Chandigarh, specially Ms. Savita Thakur, Mr. Hari Chand and most importantly the support of Mr. Ved Bhardwaj (Librarian, Department of Economics, Panjab University, Chandigarh) for making my journey easier.

Words are insufficient to owe my gratitude to my father whose continuous encouragement never let me look at the back. I can’t verbalize my gratitude towards my mother’s unconditional love. Their unconditional love and prayers have certainly pushed me to make this work a reality. I acknowledge my special thanks to my sister Meenu, Rajeev jiju, my brother Pankaj and Geetika bhabhi. I also appreciate the contribution of my nephews Rajat, Mayank, Sadaksh and Daarad. I am really indebted to one of my friends Sudiksha Bhatia, who was always there for me in my difficult times. Her support has been like an umbrella to protect me from the hottest summer heat and from the chilling winter rains.

My heart fills with delight and peace with the remembrance of my Guru Shirdi Sai Baba who kindled the light of spirit within me. His love has guided me to uphold the harmony of the inner stillness with outer resonance during knotty times.
