Chapter - III Data Analysis, Results and Interpretation 81 – 164

Statistical Analysis of the Data

Section I: Demographic Analysis 83
- Status of Career Decision Making 83
- Gender Wise and Stream Wise Demographic Profile 84

Section II: Descriptive Analysis 87
- Career Indecision across Gender and Stream 87
- Career Decision Making Self-Efficacy across Gender and Stream of Study 90
- Family Interaction Patterns across Gender and Stream 93
- Vocational Identity across Gender and Stream 95

Section III: Inferential Statistics 98

Section III.1 Univariate Analysis (t-test) 98
- Career Indecision and Gender 98
- Career Decision Making Self-Efficacy and Gender 99
- Family Interaction Patterns and Gender 99
- Vocational Identity and Gender 100

Section III.2 Univariate Analysis (ANOVA) 102
- Career Indecision and Stream of Study 102
- Career Decision Making Self-Efficacy and Stream of Study 103
- Family Interaction Patterns and Stream of Study 103
- Vocational Identity and Stream of Study 106

Section III.3 Bivariate Analysis 108
Relationship among Career Indecision, Career Decision Making Self-Efficacy, Family Interaction Patterns and Vocational Identity for
- Total Sample of Undergraduate Students 108
- Male Undergraduate Students 111
- Female Undergraduate Students 113
- Arts Stream Undergraduate Students 116
- Commerce Stream Undergraduate Students 118
- Science Stream Undergraduate Students 120
Section IV: Multivariate Statistics

- Validation of Career Indecision Scale
- Validation of Career Decision Making Self-Efficacy Scale
- Validation of Vocational Identity Scale
- Validation of Family Interaction Patterns Scale
- Testing Measurement Model
- Testing Structural Model

Interpretation of the Analyzed Data

- Status of Career Indecision among Undergraduate Students and Demographic Differences for Career Indecision, Career Decision-Making Self-Efficacy, Family Interaction Patterns and Vocational Identity
- Relationship among Career Indecision, Career Decision Making Self-Efficacy, Family Interaction Patterns and Vocational Identity
- Predicting Career Indecision from among the Independent Variables of Career Decision Making Self-Efficacy, Family Interaction Patterns and Vocational Identity

Chapter - IV

Summary, Conclusions, Implications and Suggestions for Further Research

Summary

Conclusions of the Study
- Conclusions Based on Demographic Data of Sample
- Conclusions Based on Descriptive Analysis
- Conclusions Based on Inferential Analysis
- Conclusions Based on Multivariate Analysis

Implications of the Study
- Educational Implications
- Implications for Career Counselors

Limitations of the Study

Suggestions for Further Research
