Acknowledgement

Completing a PhD is truly a marathon event, and I would not have been able to complete this journey without the help and support of countless people. At this moment of accomplishment, first of all, I must express my gratitude towards my guide, Prof. Sankar Nath Sanyal. This work would not have been possible without his guidance, support and encouragement. Under his guidance I successfully overcame many difficulties and learned a lot. His unflinching courage and conviction always inspire me. His leadership, support, attention to detail and hard work have set an example I hope to match some day.

It’s my pleasure to acknowledge Dr. Kim Vaiphei, Department of Histopathology, PGIMER, for her kind support and encouragement. Without her immense help this work would not be possible in the present form. Under her guidance I successfully overcame many difficulties and learned a lot.

I am also thankful to Prof. Bimla Nehru, Department of Biophysics, for her constant support and encouragement in my research work. I sincerely thank and owe deep regards to Prof. Ashwani Koul, Chairperson, Department of Biophysics for his cooperations and providing every possible help and facilities in my research work. My deep regards are due to all the other faculty members of the Department of Biophysics.

I would like to thank the members of office and technical staff of the Department of Biophysics, especially Kuldeep sir, Dinesh sir, Damodar sir, Gurpreet kaur, Mehta sir and Satpal ji for supporting me in carrying out my research work.

A journey is easier when you travel together and interdependence is certainly more valuable than independence. I wish to thank my fellow PhD students Vivek, Hanit, Chandan and Shruti, they each helped make my time in the PhD more fun and interesting. I am also thankful to my friends Radhika mam, Neha, Sukhwinder, Kinnri, Dilpreet, Rozy, Sohini, Prachi, Sohi, and Shivani for their love and moral I extend my warm appreciation to all the other Research Scholars of the Department for their help during my PhD work which was very fruitful for shaping up my ideas and research.

I sincerely thank the Department of Science and Technology (DST) [Reference No. (SR/SO/BB-05/2008)] and Indian Council of Medical Research (ICMR), [Reference No. (3/2/2/83/2011/NCD-III)] Government of India, New Delhi, for providing financial assistance which helped me to perform my work comfortably.

Last but not least, I am deeply and forever indebted to my Parents for their love, support and encouragement throughout my entire life and lifting me uphill this phase of life. I thank my sweet niece Amithi Singh for making my life cheerful with her selfless and cute smile.

Finally I would like to thank everybody who was important to the successful completion of the thesis, as well as expressing my apology that I could not mention personally one by one.

Date: 6-5-13

Manpreet Kaur Saini