ACKNOWLEDGEMENTS

I wish to express my profound gratitude to my teacher and guide, Dr. (Mrs.) Vidhu Mohan, Reader, Department of Psychology, Panjab University, Chandigarh whose inspiring guidance helped me to prepare this piece of work. I am deeply indebted to her for all the advice, encouragement and assistance extended to me so ungrudgingly, sometimes at the cost of her own personal inconvenience and valuable time.

My deepest sense of gratitude is towards Dr. Jitendra Mohan, who helped me throughout the study.

I am grateful to Dr. (Mrs.) K. K. Nijhawan, Head of the Department of Psychology, Panjab University, Chandigarh for providing me with all the amenities to facilitate the task.

I would like to record my sincerest thanks to the Inspector-Generals of Prisons, Punjab, Haryana and Uttar Pradesh for permitting me to work in the various prisons in their respective States. My heartiest gratitude to the officials and inmates of the Central Jail, Patiala; Central Jail and Women Jail, Ludhiana; Women Jail, Hisar and Model Prison, Lucknow for taking personal interest in my research work and without whose help my task would have been very difficult.

My thanks to Mr. C. M. Behl, Programmer, Computer
Centre, Panjab University, Chandigarh for his help with the computation work.

I am also indebted to Mr. B. S. Kahlon who took a lot of pains in typing the script.

But for the constant inspiration and help of my wife, Mrs. Santosh Singh, this thesis would never have come to a finish.
