ACKNOWLEDGEMENTS

It is my bounden duty to extend heartfelt thanks to all those who have helped me in presenting this thesis work.

My Research Supervisor, Dr. C. Sudhakar, Reader, Department of Rural Development, S.K.University, was of immense help and constant source of inspiration to me. His valuable guidance and encouragement alone made it possible to complete this work. I cannot sufficiently express my gratitude in words. I deeply feel grateful to him.

Whenever I was at the cross roads, timely help readily came from Prof. Ch. Umamohan, Professor and Head, Department of Sociology, S.K.University. I thank him profusely for his affection and cooperation.

Similarly, Prof. P. Muralidharudu, Dr. V. Reddappa Reddy, Reader and Head, Dr. G. Sreedhar, Reader, and Dr. R. Suguna Kumari, Lecturer, Department of Rural Development, S.K.University, Anantapur, are of great help and encouragement throughout my struggle in preparing this work. I extend my gratitude to them.
My special thanks are also due to Prof. R. Vasantha, Professor and Head, Department of History, Dr. Amarnath R. Das, Reader, Dept. of Sociology, S.K. University, Sri M. Ramakrishna, Manager, Syndicate Bank, Tadipatri, for their constant encouragement.

I am also thankful to the authorities of National Institute of Rural Development, Hyderabad for their help in making use of the library.

I owe my grateful thanks to P. Venkatesulu, A. Prasad, M. Bujji and N. Sree Harsha for their help.

I am also grateful to all the study respondents for their cooperation in answering my schedule.

I will utterly fail in my duty if I forget to mention the help and affection of my family members, especially my parents.

I am also thankful to Mr. P. Lokanna for his patient and excellent typing on the computer.

G. Naga Pavani
NAGA PAVANI.G