ACKNOWLEDGEMENTS

It is my bounden duty to express my deep sense of gratitude to Professor K.T.M. Hegde for suggesting the problem and for his valuable guidance throughout the course of this study. But for his invaluable guidance it would not have been possible to complete this work.

I deem it my pleasure to record my sincere thanks to Professor A. Sundara for having made available some of the objects from the Megalithic sites of North Karnataka, which were collected by him during the course of his studies and excavations. Prof. Sundara, in the capacity as Director of Department of Archaeology and Museums, Government of Karnataka, also lent me a few samples for my scientific study.

I gratefully acknowledge the support and encouragement given by my teachers Dr. B. K. Gururajrao, Dr. S. H. Ritti and Smt Leela ShantaKumari. I am also thankful to the Director of Kannada Research Institute, Karnataka University, Dharwad who lent me the iron sample from Hallur.

I am grateful to Dr. V. V. Krishnashastry, Director of Archaeology and Museums, Government of Andhra Pradesh, Hyderabad, who was kind enough to lend a few samples from the Megalithic sites located in Andhra Pradesh.

It is my pleasure to record a word of thanks to the Director, Deccan College Pune, for providing me a copy of the photograph of Iron Smelting Furnace from Naikund.
I am indebted to Prof. S. B. Gupta, Department of Physical Metallurgy, IIT, Kanpur, for having guided me in the laboratory work. I am also thankful to the Head, Department of Advanced Centre for Material Sciences IIT, Kanpur for allowing me to work in the Centre.

My sincere thanks are also due to Dr. K. Krishnan and Shri Ajit Prasad, Department of Archaeology M. S. University, Baroda for their useful comments during the finalisation of the thesis.

I place on record my sincere gratitude for the painstaking help rendered by my esteemed friend Shri S. N. Raju. I wish to express my thanks to Shri Sudhir, Shri V. H. Parmar, Shri Y. S. Rawat, Shri K. B. Bahuleyan and Shri N. A. Sayyad and Shri Srikar for their help at various stages of my work.

There are many more individuals who have, one way or the other, contributed to the success of my research. It would not be possible to thank each of them individually but I wish to especially thank all of them who made my work successful.

No words can express my gratitude to my parents and parents-in-law who have supported and encouraged me throughout my studies.

16th August, 1989

M.S. Mudhol