ACKNOWLEDGEMENTS

Today I submit my PhD thesis for examination. The accomplishment won’t sink in until a few more days, but I feel good about it nonetheless. Research has been a very arduous task and no venture can be completed without the blessings of Almighty. I consider it my bounded duty to bow down to the Almighty whose kind blessings always inspire me to walk a right path of life.

I express my deep gratitude and indebtedness to my esteemed supervisor, Dr. (Miss) Sudesh Gakhar. During all the years, I have known Dr. Gakhar as a sympathetic and principle-centered person. Her overly enthusiasm and integral view on research and her mission for providing only high quality work and not less has made a deep impression on me. I owe her a lot of gratitude for having shown me this way of research. She could not even realize how much I have learned from her. The research has opened my life long association with her, as working with her made me realize that apart from being an excellent teacher, she had great motherly qualities which made me look up to her always in times of despair.

Sincere thanks are also extended to Dr. Mrs Sukhvarsha Narula, Principal, Govt Home Science College for providing me necessary facilities, kind cooperation and required help during the course of this study. I also thank all the principals of the schools taken for the study for providing me all the help during my data collection.

I am also grateful to Mrs. Bela Gupta, Ms. Daljit Kaur and Ms Vandana Sehgal—the library staff of Govt. Home Science college for providing all the necessary facilities and help. My special thanks are also reserved for Ms. Kusum, whose help and encouragement cannot be forgotten.
She was always there for all the patient help on statistical analysis and never lost her cool on me.

This work would not have been possible without the support and encouragement of my colleagues and friends, Dr. Suman Verma, Dr. Sudha Katyal, Dr. Jagjiwan Kaur, Ms Ravneet Chawla and Ms Neelam Singh.

I cannot end without thanking my family, on whose constant encouragement and love I have relied throughout my time. I owe a deep sense of gratitude to my mother-in-law, for creating an environment in which following this path seemed so natural and who was therewith me throughout the work, encouraging me with her kind words whenever I seemed to have got stuck. I owe my loving thanks to my husband, Jagdeep Singh, who was there with me at every step, throughout. Without his understanding and encouragement, it would be impossible for me to finish this work. Vikram and Tamanna, my children got on with their schoolwork without me and without a complaint, learning to be independent on their own. My special reference is reserved for my parents who constantly and lovingly encouraged me in my pursuance of research.

Reetinder Brar