ACKNOWLEDGEMENTS

First and foremost I thank God almighty for giving me strength and courage to sail smoothly especially through the rough course of my life and leading to the successful completion of the research thesis. I thank God for surrounding me with enlightening instances of hope, perseverance and steadfast resolution and making me realise the importance of the same.

Words are inadequate to express my deepest gratitude to Prof. Akshaya Kumar, my mentor and teacher, who gave me the pertinent direction and cleared the path when I experienced moments of blurred perception. I express my deep regards for him as a teacher and an individual that is to stay with me for the rest of my life. I thank him for patiently going through the manuscripts and enlightening me with his acutely insightful and thought provoking suggestions at various points. I thank him immensely not only for encouraging me when my steps were faltering but also allowing me freedom to explore and grow as a research scholar. I feel truly blessed and singularly fortunate to have worked under his guidance.

I truly acknowledge the love, care and support of my family. Words cannot do justice to the profound sense of gratitude that I have for my mother. I thank her for having unflinching faith in me and my capabilities and instilling in me the desire to work hard. I thank my father for being a vital pillar of strength in my life. In the entire course of my research he strengthened his confidence in me and made me smile bigger. My special thanks to my sister Supriya who would wake up for hours to read and reread the manuscript and assisted me in revising it. I thank her for encouraging me throughout my research experience.

I thank the entire Department of English and Cultural Studies for providing us the right atmosphere to grow and realise our potential. The academic excellence and intellectual vigour of the faculty members remains a source of major inspiration. Last but not the least I place on record my sincere thanks to my friends, research scholars, colleagues and all those who have had faith in me and supported me in pursuing the project.
