ACKNOWLEDGEMENT

A journey is easier when travelled together. Interdependence is certainly more valuable than independence. This thesis is the result of the work whereby the author was accompanied and supported by many people. It is a pleasant aspect that the author has now the opportunity to express her gratitude for all of them.

The author takes this opportunity to thank the Almighty for the successful completion of the thesis.

The author places on her record of thanks to the Prof. Dr. G. James Pitchai, Vice chancellor, Bharathiar University, Coimbatore for his support through fostering the process of research work and gentle persuasion towards finishing the thesis. The author takes this opportunity to thank Dr. P. K. Manoharan, Registrar, Bharathiar University for the support rendered in the successful completion of the thesis.

The author expresses her record of thanks to Dr. G. Ganesan, Director i/c, Research and Development Centre, Bharathiar University for the valuable support provided.

Special thanks are expressed by the author to the Doctoral committee members for their persistent inspiration and unconditional support at each turn of the road.

The author also expresses her thanks to the faculty members of BSMED for their support and inspiration throughout the completion of the thesis.

The author expresses overwhelming gratitude to the research supervisor and guide Dr. P. Sathyapriya, MBA., PGDCA., Ph.D., who was in every way available as a resource, be it scholarly, emotionally, socially and administratively. She monitored and provided valuable inputs for the progress of the work. She gave her guidance, support and integral view on research and inspired the author to set a high benchmark in the research work. This thesis would not have been possible without her kind support, trenchant critiques, probing questions and remarkable patience.

Special thanks are expressed by the author to her family members and friends for their relentless inspiration and absolute support rendered for the successful completion of the thesis.