ACKNOWLEDGEMENTS

This thesis is the result of the guidance, cooperation, help and encouragement of the various individuals and institutions and it is my immense pleasure and sincere duty to acknowledge. I am particularly indebted to my beloved teacher Dr. V.S. Patil, Reader, Department of Political Science, Karnatak University, Dharwad, under whose guidance the research work has been taken up and completed. But for his intellectual guidance and constant encouragement I would not have been able to complete this study. I thank him whole-heartedly.

I am sincerely thankful to Dr. R.T. Jangam, Professor and Chairman, Department of Political Science, Karnatak University, Dharwad, for his counsel and inspiration throughout the study. I take this opportunity of expressing my grateful thanks to all the staff members in the Political Science Department.

I put on record my gratitude to Dr. K.R. Madhi, Principal (Retd.), S.V. Bembalagi College, Ramdurg, Principal N.G. Karur (Retd.), College of Education, Bijapur, Prof. B.B. Hunagund (Retd.), Department of Library and Information Science, Karnatak University, Dharwad, for lending their expert advice and constructive suggestions. I profusely thank them all.

I am grateful to the authorities of the Social Science Documentation Centre, Delhi, for kindly providing me relevant literature. The staff of the various libraries at different places such as the Kesari office, Poona, the Gokhale Institute of Politics and Economics, Poona, the Poona University Library, and especially the Karnatak University Library, Dharwad, have been of great help to me in the process of the study and it is my pleasant duty to thank them all. I express my hearty thanks to all those interviewees who spared much of their valuable time and favoured me with their useful interviews.

My special thanks are due to the late Shri S.M. Tambake, the founding-father of the V.V.Sangh, Talikoti, who has provided shelter to my life. I extend my sincere thanks to the Chairman and members of the governing body of the V.V. Sangh's S.K.College of Arts and Commerce, Talikoti, where I am working as lecturer, for their kind cooperation, the Principal and the staff of my college for their enthusiastic encouragement and help. I also express my sense of gratitude to my family members for their support and assistance.
