

..... and thus it happened

It was a memorable and wonderful experience working under eminent professor, my guide, Sr.Professor S.A. Abbasi. He is persona exemplified for his dedication to research. He taught me, more by his actions than words, that research transcends the boundaries of inspiration and perspiration and is more about commitment to one's work and above all, perseverance. Constantly in the pursuit of excellence, he has the knack of extracting the best out of his students.

"Thank you Professor for introducing me to the ever interesting field of EIA and guiding me successfully to the completion of my work".

I fondly acknowledge the support lent by Dr.F.I.Khan who was always with me especially during my moments of doubts. With his ever patient and relentless persistence, he never let me tangent off my goal.

The field survey was an enjoyable experience in the company of my junior (M.Phil), Mr.N.Karunakaran. The trials and tribulations of the field trip seemed so trivial owing to his enthusiasm. Thanks are also due to Mr. Prabhanandan, CPET, for helping us out with the water sampling of 21m deep Sathanur reservoir.

But the actual credit for the success of the field trip goes entirely to the villagers of Sathanur command area and the various authorities associated with Sathanur reservoir project who were so forthcoming and generous in parting with all the relevant information. The field work would not have been possible without their cooperation.

I extend my heartfelt thanks to Dr. P. Krishnakumari, Dr. E.V. Ramasamy Gajalakshmi, Chari and all other CPETians for all their good wishes.

Outside CPET, unconditional support and inspiration came from my dearest friends Bala, Suja, Shaji, Aranga, Ghori, Meena, Venkatesh ....., some of whom, though not near, were always around. My life is enriched having them.

The mammoth task of translation of the data from tamil to english would not have been possible without the help of Pratibha who patiently, apart from translating, cleared the minutest of my doubts.

This thesis is a labour of affection and care of Chandira and Malathy (M/s. Nan Computers, Kalapet) who, patiently and unfailingly, spent hours together in giving this thesis a final shape.

Last, but not the least, it was the love of my dearest parents and brother that motivated me to accomplish my ambition.

Richa
