REFERENCES

Daniels, B. (1991), Male-Female Wage Differentials in Haiti, Graduate School of Public and International Affairs, University of Pittsburg, Pennsylavania, mimeo.

Duncan, K.V. (1991), "A Longitudinal Analysis of Gender Wage Disparity: Evidence from the 1980s", School of Business Administration, University of San Diego, Mimeo.

Durasamy, P. and D. Malathy (1995), "Returns to Higher Education in India ", Journal of Educational Planning and Administration, 9, 57-68.

Fleming and J. Van Dijk (1988), "Differences in Characteristics between Unemployed with Different Spells of Unemployment", Department of Economics, University of Groningen, Mimeo.

Gindling, T.H. (1991), "Labour Market Segmentation and the Determination of Wages in the Public, Government of India, (1990), Statistical Profile on Women Labour (Third Issue), Labour Bureau, Chandigarh: Ministry of Labour, Government of India.

Government of India, (1991), Science and Technology Pocket Data Book, Department of Science and Technology, New Delhi.

Government of India, (1992), Science and Technology Pocket Data Book, Department Science and Technology, New Delhi.

ILO (1990), Year Book of Labour Statistics, Geneva: ILO.

Kennedy, P.E. (1981), "Estimation with Correctly Interpreted Dummy Variables in Semi-logarithmic

Economy*, Journal of Development Economics, 12, 137-152.

Polachek, S. and B. Youn (1987), "A Two-Tiered Earnings Frontier Estimation of Employer and Rosalind Chew (1990), "Gender Earnings Differential in Singapore", Indian Journal of Industrial Relations, 26, 122-123.

in Labor Economics, Greenwich, Conn.: JAI Press.

Vijverberg, W.P.M. (1980), "Identifying the Unidentified Parameter of the Roy Model of Selectivity", mimeo, School of Social Sciences, University of Texas at Dallas.

